Textile policy

3404. SHRI SHANKER SINH VAGHELA: Will the Minister of TEXTILES be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that out of the total number of textile mills lying closed a fairly large number of them were closed after the announcement of the new textile policy in June, 1985;

(b) if so to what extent such large number of closures were as a. result of that policy; and

(c) how Government would justify the success of the new textile policy yis-a-vis revival in demand, fall in prices, increase in employment, increase in per capita cloth consumption, etc.?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF TEXTILES (SHRI RAFIQUE ALAM): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The closure of textile mills is indicative of a structural transformation in the textile industry;

(c) During the last 3 years of the Policy, the textile industry as a whole has shown improvement in terms of production as well as exports. In terms of index number of wholesale prices, mill cotton cloth has shown only a marginal increase from May, 1985 to May, 1988 whereas nylon | terene and mixed cloth actually declined. The per capita consumption of textiles in the household sector which was 13.83 metres in 1984 was estimated at 17.16 metres in 1987. So far as employment is concerned, while the work force in the organised sector of the textile industry has come down it is estimated to have increased in the decentralised sector.
